

THE GROWTH OF THE INSTITUTION AND THE PROPOSED RETRENCHMENT.

As far as the University proper is concerned this statistic completes its history to the present date :
it is impossible, in a limited space, to give an
of its growth, vicissitudes, and present position

The determination on the part of the Government to withdraw from the Sydney University the subsidy

[illegible]

[illegible]

Special Advertisements.

...conversion of the
...to a stagnant
...members of the
...the same time it is
...look the gain of
...offices in the religio
...of undeniable merit
...on the clergy, as well
...en. Let us imagine
...be produced upon
...rship was filled from
...of the talents of men
...local bar. Suppose
...of Parliament was
...or Ministerial office
...things would con
...in the persons
...clergyman is affected
...not regard his calling
...professional men do
...that he cannot shake
...to those ennobling or
...at away from him the
...ment, and restrict
...that is the tendency!
...the told tradition
...a away from such a
...given, ordinary in
...ingly enter the ranks
...react upon each,

that whatever transmits its force to me. The able and generous of incapable men hear it complained that young men desired to enter the ministry to go to church, and not to be saved. The remedy of selecting an occasional resident clergy, all events does not cure.

A new diocesan in the economical matter, has drawn public attention to the failure of a preacher concerns and the body with it. If a man of force, radiate energy and sufficient, so much the and those who shop GREEN come with an excellent path and work. Born his studies at Marlborough, where he graduated, and at that time the Wigan was born. Originated in 1880, and in 1881, he was, ten years later, he the accounts of Ballarat, and the influence of the colony. Elements such as the clergy could parallel him. It is not to be accepted as a matter of course that he will maintain sound exhortations in his own service in his own flock that is the requisite talent for a minister. We are also aware that the clergy by Victorians in his own service to the personal advantage. He will need to be in the labour force, and his pulpit will have the full burden, for the see of Melbourne is a considerable time. Finance is considered a matter of importance. However, the good of the colony is the Victorian clergies. The clergy have accepted the fact that the colonies make it a matter of demand. And every minister of the policy of the Anglican clergy in the

the festive season sically there was not the some half-dome minding. The question in the elections has, it the. Again, it is ing in the general elec been going on. A trav
the lives of people erministic declaration various medical bodies (that manufacture of special the. The fact that the Lucy writes of the
by the hoisting of the power of the Palace of man though more useful of the Houses of Parli
to the death of Sir

[illegible]

business centres and banned from the roll. If they were not in the posion the subject as these cities. Some instances r promised that if any to meet the difficulty, so the elections, he would He suggested that the all upon the chief Elec-
y plan could be devised.
re waited upon Mr. explained their views. In d that he would make

...The department of will remain open until 6

SHOCKING TRAGEDY AT SUPPLY HILLS

HILLS.
LIFE TAKEN.
OF THE MURDERER.
acted in the lower por-midday yesterday, when the Carless deliberately and Mary Piazzi and then was a dressmaker's years of age. She was of born in Australia. The
With the family to which yesterday to supply her Carless's last customer

ing his morning's round
When the knock was Gay told Mary Diaz to
s. The girl did so, and with his basket. Carless, his front room and the nounced to clean the namely, three rock-eds.
them, and, having hung s, where Mrs. Gay and the district, Mrs. Gay to pay, but he was her after he had had his custom to give him a c
ed. Mrs. Gay supplied when he received the way. "Will I go out i dog?" Mrs. Gay told table was taken up wit getting ready to send content with a chair.
Mrs. Gay went to a in which to wring the
to the house she found retirement, and the girl INTERPRETED.

the owl came, went upping for about 10 minutes, stopping, she again
came next but one to her, wishing to have some for despatch by a messenger. She then but, on re-entering her floor lay the almost lifeless drawing copiously stained before Mrs.
cock which she received.
and, running up to the Mary?" but the men gave two blows mailed.

NEIGHBOURS AND THE POLICE.

Called by Mrs. Gay, some neighbours soon appeared, and the condition of the procured a wide board, and her arms lifted into
as little as possible

INJURIES.

At the Sydney Hospital by of the resident medical her, found a bruised and a similar
one. In the latter case the
was not serious.

[illegible][illegible]

could not stop to wait.

THE MURDERER.
34 years of age. The accused is a native of a very poor family, but saying that his anger he then tried as hard as he could to get rid of out of the minds of the deceased girl living in her house and in him in regard to his and him that she had a growing up. For the been as friendly terms

THE CRIME.
The crime is hardly more charged from the statement of it surrounding, the process, despite the fact of the two persons.

THE MURDERER'S INTENT.
He at his lodgings were found that they consisted of a woman. A search in the room of the woman with whom it. Carried was not have written the and on the paper. He had a down for him of Black.

her, as if Carlene had thoughts concerning the

MINER'S WIFE.

(DRAFT.)

(INDEPENDENT.)

LITHGOW, FRIDAY.

John Nasson Nicholson, a Yale of Clarend, comes himself to a cropsicle of the deceased, was found a body, which was then at the inquest this afternoon the deceased had prey poison and hangar, the appearance of the carcase was terrible. A verdict of poison was returned.

page 137

SURRY HILLS.
—●—
A YOUNG GIRL'S LIFE TAKEN.

IMMEDIATE SUICIDE OF THE MURDERER.
A shocking tragedy was enacted in the lower portion of Serry Hills at about midday yesterday, when an Italian named Augusto Carlesia deliberately murdered a young girl named Mary Bianci and then took his own life. The girl was a dressmaker's assistant, and was only 14 years of age. She was of Italian parentage, but was born in Australia. The assassin at one time resided with the family to which his victim belonged.

THE SCENE OF THE MURDER.
The scene of the murder is a small two-story terrace house, No. 354 Mary-street, off Gipps-street.

The dwelling is occupied by a Mrs. Gay, a dress-maker, and is less than a minute's walk from Belmont Park. For the last two or three months Mrs. Gay has employed Mary Piazzi as an assistant, but the girl went to her home, No. 9 Fowler-place, off Catiwegue-street, to sleep. Her mother and stepfather reside at that address.

VISIT OF THE MURDERER TO MRS. GAY'S HOUSE.

According to his custom, Carlisle went to Mrs. Gay's house at about 11 a.m. yesterday to supply her with fish. Mrs. Gay was Carlisle's last customer and Carlisle always, during his morning's round retained some fish for her. When the knock was heard at the front door Mrs. Gray told Mary Piazzi to go and see who was there. The girl did so, and found Carriani on the path with his basket. Carriani, as usual, passed through the front room and the kitchen into the yard, and commenced to clean the kish which he had kept unsightly, for a week or two. He cleaned the kish, and then, after putting things there, moved into the kitchen, where Mrs. Gray and the girls attending to their duties. Mrs. Gray asked him how much she had to pay, but he put her off by saying he would tell her after he had had his coffee, it being Mrs. Gray's custom to give him a cup of tea or coffee before he left Mrs. Gray supplied him with coffee and bread, and when he received the food he asked in a snappish way, "Will I go out in the yard and drink it like a dog!" Mrs. Gay told him that he could see that the table was taken up with some dresses which she was getting ready to send out, and that he could be content with a chair. Caroline began his repast, and Mrs. Gay went to a neighbor's to procure paper in which to wrap the costumes. On her return to the house she found Caroline partaking of his refreshment, and the girl going on with her sewing.

to figure the time, wishing to have some garments ready packed for despatch by a Newmarket train. She was, she states, not alone, but accompanied by a sister-in-law, who was a countess, and a maid in the house, she was confronted with a horrible assassin. Stretched out on the kitchen floor lay the almost lifeless body of Mary Piazzi, with blood flowing copiously from her head. Some moments elapsed before Mrs. Gray recovered from her shock, and when she did, she screamed for assistance, and running up to the wounded girl called to her, "Mary! Mary!" but the sufferer could not speak. She merely gave two sobs, and was then absolutely exhausted.

ASSISTANCE FROM NEIGHBOURS AND THE POLICE.

The alarm having been raised by Mrs. Gray, some the girl, obtained a van. He also procured a wide board, placed the girl upon it, and had her thus lifted into the van, so that she should suffer as little as possible on the way to the hospital.

THE GIRL'S INJURIES.

The girl was admitted to the Sydney Hospital by Dr. J. E. Oram Henry, one of the resident medical officers, who, on examining her, found a bullet-wound on the right side of the forehead, and several wounds through the lower lip. In the latter case the left jaw was fractured, and the bullet had lodged in the side of the face. The patient was bleeding from the mouth, and the strabismus on the same eye was writ, which was also blackened, and there was strabismus and blackening of the left hand. The right

THE SUICIDE.

Almost simultaneously with the arrival of the girl and the brother, the doctor, a patient, a man, was brought in. Subsequent inquiries went to show that this individual was the girl's murderer. This man, Carless, had been seen by John Hannerford and George Julius running from Mrs. Gray's home immediately after the neighbors had heard the report of the shooting. He ran into Beacon Park, and, entering a latrine, fired a bullet into his head through the top of his left ear. The suicide, who was well known to the left-hand man, was known by Carless Stewart in the case of failing to appear at the coroner's inquest who was close by, put Carless into a cab and conveyed him to the hospital. On admission, he was breathing heavily, and his pulse was very weak. He had received the wound in the top of the left ear. The bullet appeared to have lodged at the top of the head. The man was placed in one of the wards, but he expired in a few minutes.

THE WEAPON USED.

When CARLSEN fell wounded in the latrine in Reims Park he fell at a British Bulldog revolver. This, when scrutinized, was found to be one of six cartridges made. There were three cartridges and three cartridges made. It was found that the contents of three of the chambers had been discharged. Cartridges corresponding with those in the revolver were afterwards discovered at CARLSEN'S abode, No. 316 Castlereagh-street.

STATEMENT BY MRS. GAY-CARLSEN.

INFANTUCTION.
Speaking to a Herald reporter, Mrs. Gay explained that she had known the deceased girl for years. The parents of the girl, who was named Carlism, were about a month or a year and a half older than the girl, who was about 17 years ago. The deceased girl's father died three years back, and her mother re-married. For the past two or three months Mary Plazan had been assisting her mother in bookkeeping. She was a quiet, well-behaved, very delicate, and somewhat ill-looking girl, very delicate, and somewhat ill-looking. For 12 months up to about two years ago Carlism lived with the girl's parents. The girl had a dislike for Carlism, who, however, treated her very kindly. She was very fond of her, and ever he came to her (Mrs. Gay's) house the girl would turn away from him. She could not bear him at all. She (Mrs. Gay) had learned that on a recent day when Carlism was at the house of Mary Plazan, "I hear you was poking your nose at the girl," and she said she was poking your nose at the girl."

that he followed up the remark by asking whether she would go with him to a dance at the Italian Club. The girl exclaimed, in reply: "No, I have no need for such a young man. Certainly not." When Carlisle was at the store yesterday and was given his coffee, she (Mrs. Gays) got cross with him, and spoke scoldingly to him, at the same time asking her whether he would take his coffee into the yard like a dog. In the morning when the fish she got from the man, and supplied him with tea or coffee gratuitously. He had latterly come to want too much attention, and yesterday when he came to the store she refused him to take his coffee, and said that those who were so busy going to be servants to him, and could not stop to wait on him.

The murderer is an Italian, 34 years of age. The occupants of No. 316 Castleberg-street, where he boarded, speak of him as having a fiery temper, but they have no evidence, by saying that his anger was soon an end, and that he then tried to be good. He could laugh the matter out of the minds of those concerned. The mother of the deceased girl states that while Caruso was living in her house she never saw him with a woman in regard to his bad language, and to remind that she saw the girl in the house who was growing up. For the last four months he had not been on friendly terms with the family.

THE MOTIVE FOR THE CRIME.

The motive for Caruso's crime is hardly more apparent than the way in which the statement made by Mrs. Gars. From all the circumstances case appears to be one of a frenzied revenger for the disgrace of the murderer's address, despite the fact of the wide disparity in the ages of the two persons.

EXAMINATION OF THE MURDERER'S EFFECTS.

When the murderer's effects at his lodgings were examined last night it was found that they consisted almost entirely of a red velvet cushion, a pair of slippers brought to light a small piece of paper on which "Mary Piazzi" written upon it. Carlsen was an uneducated man, and could not have written the name so easily as it appeared on the paper. He had probably got someone to write the name and for him to send it.

Around it were a number of ill-shaped and ill-assorted letters strung together, as if Carlsen had endeavored to express his thoughts concerning the

SUICIDE OF A MINER'S WIFE.

[BY TELEGRAPH.]
(FROM OUR CORRESPONDENT.)

LITHGOW, FRIDAY.

This morning a married woman named Nicholson, a miner's wife, residing at the Vale of Clwyd, committed suicide by hanging herself to a crosspiece of the bedroom doorway. Her husband had previously left for work in the pit, and the deceased was found by her son, who called down from the window, that she was quite dead. The evidence at the inquest this afternoon disclosed the fact that the deceased had previously attempted suicide by poison and hanging.

the apparent cause of which were monetary troubles. A verdict of suicide while temporarily insane was returned.

THE LADIES' JACQUETTES

MRS. M'CATHIE'S.
80 KING-STREET.

SPLENDID VALUE ALL-WOOL SERGE JACKETS, REAL BEAVER FRONTS, to 11/6
DOUBLE-BREADED SERGE JACKETS, CORRECT CUT, to 11/6
DOUBLE-BREADED JACKETS, WELL TRIMMED BRAID, 12s 6d
FACED CLOTH JACKETS, LATEST WINTER SHAPE, 12s 6d
EXTRA QUALITY SERGE, BRAIDED WAIST, JACKETS, 10s 6d.

MAINTLES AND EVENING CLOAKS AT SIMILAR VALUE.

RAIN CLOAKS, RAIN CLOAKS, IN
LATEST CAPE SHAPE, GUARANTEED TO KEEP COLOUR, AND THOROUGHLY RAIN-PROOF, WORTH 25s.
ALL AT 2s 11/6,
AT

80 MRS. M'CATHIE'S, 80 KING-STREET. 80

N.S.W. FRESH FOOD AND ICE COMPANY. LIMITED

35 HARBOUR-STREET
63 KING-STREET
125 KING-STREET
23 MILK-ARCADE.

FO
MILK
TRADE.

ICE
BUTTER
FISH

THE COMPANY'S CARTS DELIVER DAILY IN CITY AND SUBURB.

NOTE.—D. D. Henderson, of Parramatta, is AGENT for the sale of the Company's Butter and Ice in that city.

THE ANNUAL SALE AT

JOHN HUNTER'S

WORLD-RENNOWNED CITY PALACE,

MARKET AND GEORGE STREETS.

ENORMOUS REDUCTIONS IN

BOOTS, SHOES, AND MERCHERY.

IS NOW ON.

LADIES' AND GENT'S BOOTS AND SHOES.

ALSO

GENT'S HATS, SHIRTS, TIES, HOSIERY, AND GLOVES,

AT REMARKABLY LOW PRICES.

HARDY BROTHERS,

JEWELLERS, GOLD AND SILVER SMITHS,

WATCHMAKERS, AND OPTICIANS.

PRESENTATION WATCHES,

RACING CHRONOMETERS.

WATCHES FOR RUSH WEAR A SPECIALITY.

SHOWROOMS: 13 HUNTER-STREET, SYDNEY.

TO ENSURE A COMFORTABLE SHAVE BUY YOUR RAZOR FROM
R. AND G. HAWORTH,
THE LEADING CUTLERS,
401 GEORGE-STREET.

WEST AUSTRALIAN GOLDFIELDS
THE RICHEST IN THE WORLD.

PERTH, THE CAPITAL, GROWING RAPIDLY INTO A GREAT CITY.
BUY WELL-SITUATED LAND THERE. IT WILL INCREASE GREATLY IN VALUE
CITY ALLOTMENTS, NICE LAND, GRAND PORTION, FROM 640.
SUBURBAN BLOCKS, WELL SITUATED, COMING LOCALITIES, FROM 410 EACH.

Very Easy Terms. This Guaranteed Perfect. No Forfeiture if Ill or Out of Work.
CALL OR WRITE FOR MARKED PLANS AND GOVERNMENT MAPS SHOWING EXACT POSITION OF THE LAND.

THE INTERCOLONIAL INVESTMENT COMPANY, LIMITED
(Established 1885.) 309 PITT-STREET, SYDNEY.

W. J. DOUGLASS, Manager.

George-street, Land, 1200, by 100ft., 410. Kogarah Waggon estate, lot 20, 200ft., at 120 60 per cent.

MINING INTELLIGENCE.

[illegible][illegible][illegible]

15

[illegible]

